Star Tribune names Werner Electric a 2017 Top 150 Workplace

Cottage Grove, MN June 26, 2017— Werner Electric has been named one of the Top 150 Workplaces in Minnesota by the Star Tribune. By receiving this recognition for the eighth year, Werner Electric is one of only ten other companies to have won this award for eight consecutive years. A complete list of those selected is available at StarTribune.com/topworkplaces2017.

Produced by the same team that compiles the 26-year-old Star Tribune 100 report of the best-performing public companies in Minnesota, Top Workplaces recognizes the most progressive companies in Minnesota based on employee opinions measuring engagement, organizational health and satisfaction. The analysis included responses from over 69,000 employees at Minnesota public, private and nonprofit organizations.

“Our employees are the foundation of the value we bring to our customers. Their hard work and dedication in finding the best solutions for our customers is what sets them apart, and what makes our company different. This award is a recognition of who they are and how they contribute to our organization,” says Ben Granley, President, Werner Electric.

Star Tribune Publisher Michael J. Klingensmith said, “The companies in the Star Tribune Top 150 Workplaces deserve high praise for creating the very best work environments in the state of Minnesota. My congratulations to each of these exceptional companies.”
